Information about Webinar PD documentation:

To ensure that a webinar will be eligible for PD hours, documentation that confirms the participant's registration and completion of the webinar is required. The documentation needs to include the participant's name, host or facilitator's name, topic covered (topic must be child care related), time and date of the workshop. This documentation can be found in the participant's registration confirmation email and the "thank-you" for participating email that is sent before and after the webinar. These two emails need to be printed and saved as documentation. Sometimes a webinar will issue a PD certificate, we do not accept them as original PD documentation.

If you are not able to watch the webinar after registering because of the time of day or for other reasons some organizations will send a "sorry you missed the webinar" e-mail that includes a link to the webinar recording. In order to have a recorded webinar be counted as PD you are still required to register for the upcoming webinar. You will need to print the registration confirmation e-mail, along with printing the "sorry you missed the event" e-mail and then print the PD certificate that is available after watching the recording (it is the only time a webinar PD certificate is accepted). The reason for not accepting the PD certificate on its own is because it is a blank template where you fill in your own name. In the past people have printed extra copies of the certificate and shared the PD certificate with other people who had not viewed the webinar.
